LIZ O'BRIEN

New York

I look now to nature for instruction and ideas. Thus I find myself looking at lichen covered twigs or at three thousand year old bog pine uncovered in the digging of peat and wonder how I can incorporate them into my baskets... I sometimes wonder how the world would be, if we valued a substance like lichen more than we valued gold or silver. For myself lichen is a source of wonder and delight, unpredictable in its appearance, and treasured – when come upon.
